of what were apparently new one, five and ten dollar bills.

The bills were only on the outside and green paper constituted the rest of the packages. Eaton's face fell and the prisoners laughed.

"Here it is," laughed Hafley to Eaton, as McMahon opened his coat and took out a package of clean, cripp bills. A similar package was obtained from George, and the money when counted aggregated $1,700.

Then two big revolvers were removed from George's hip pockets. Hafley only had one. The complainant, Eaton, did not know where, how or when the robbery was committed; and apparently he was sorry he had made the complaint, so eager was he to leave the station.

mitted; and apparently he was sorry he had made the complaint, so eager was he to leave the station.

The address he gave was false. The detectives have been mable to obtain any trace of him. How the whole thing happened was presumably this way:

The two men had been bitten by green goods men about a year age and lost $1,000. They heard how Holland, of Kentucky, killed Tom Davis, the green goods king, and was acquitted, and they resolved on a bold game.

Circulars came to them regularly, and one day last week found them in Jersey City, Of course, the green goods man met them and took them for "mice, convenient place," with a Einel in the wall, and negotiations, were opened.

Hafter you are gentlemen, $10,000 for $1,500. Please fork over.

Hafter's crossed syes blinked and he smiled.

"We forked over once before," he said,

Hafley's crossed eyes blinked and he smiled.

Now you must shall out all the genuine boodle you so that the butto his big revolver. Now you must shall out all the genuine boodle you so through you.

The bunce man shelled to the tune of si, 700. No one will sak why he did it.

The bits had been bitten, and the two cuts Alabamians are only waiting to be released to carry away that $1, 700.

They will not talk to any one.

"I'm jest agoin to keep my mouth shet until I get out of this, and then I'll talk." Haday said.

They will probably be released this afternoon, for there is nothing to boid them on. They had a lawyer this morning, but even to him they would sell nothing.

Meanwhile, the general public is not so sure that Lingo is the right man, in view of the experience of Mrs. Phebe Bricknell, of Wellwood, who, as told in The Eventual World of Saturday, had been attacked a few evenings previous to Mrs. Miller's murder by a negro while she was walking atone on the highway near the same clump of woods. She was taken to the Camden jail and confronted with Lingo, but she said he was not the man who grasped her.

"My assaiiant was a negro," she declared, "but larger, with side whiskers and mustache. He had a very large hand, as I could feel when he placed it over my mouth, and but for the timely arrival of a lady and conleman I am sure I would have met the same fate as poor Mrs. Miller."

A meeting of the citizens of Merchantville has been called for Thursday night next to organize a law and order society, to assist the police in hunting down dangerous criminals, and a large gathering is expected. In jail Lingo grows more and more cheerful every day, his keepers say, and persistently avows his innocence.

ERIE MEN RIPE FOR A STRIKE

Angry at the Treatment of Their Committee by the Company.

Second Vice-President Thomas, of the Erie ing to the delegation of employees who have been in this city since Sept. 20 awaiting decision from him in reply to the demand for shorter hours and an increase in pay. The men are getting very restive and de clare that a complete tis-up will be declared on the entire Erie system between this city and Chicago if a favorable answer is no speedily given.

Two works have passed since the request were presented to Mr. Thomas by The Federated Board of Employees in the Erie service. They announce several griev-ances. The principal demand is for shorter hours and a restoration of wages to the rates which prevailed some years ago. The delegation is composed of forty-three mem-bers, representing the various local organizations on the line, and is headed by ex-Alderman A. B. Youngson, of Meadville, Pa. Mr. Thomas told the delegation to be patient and that they would hear from him give his answer to-day, but that gentieman, though he declined to discuss the subject, declared that he did not know when his reply would be made. It was certain, however, that it would be issued within a reasonable time.

The shortness of the interval, only three days between the confert is regarded by importers as a not injustice. Duties on all goods that arrived yesterilay and up to business hours this morning will, the importers say, be cast under crotest, and this will do done in many cases where the goods arrive to-day.

What good this will do is a matter of extreme uncertainty; out none of the importers proposes to take the riskof losing any, think by neglecting to make formal probests.
